CHINESE HAVE BATTLE WITH RATS

A THOUSAND STARVING RODENTS RUSH FROM A WHARF AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Five hundred fishermen and more than a thousand large Australian rats, maddened by hunger, fought a battle to the death at Point San Pedro today. Four hundred of the crazed rats were killed with clubs by the Mongols. The other 200 rodents escaped to the hills. The rats escaped from where they had been imprisoned under a wharf for a week and rushed upon the Chinese fishermen in the camp, which property is owned by the Union Shrimp Company.

The rats overflowed the camp and the Chinese in self-protection seized clubs and weapons of all kinds and began a battle which lasted for half an hour. George Agnew, constable at San Rafael, heard the shouting of the Chinese, and, thinking that a riot was in progress, he quickly armed his organization of citizens and hurried to the camp.

Agnew said tonight that the scene which met the eyes of the posse was well high indescribable. The Mongols were fighting like demons to kill the starving rodents which acted as if they were possessed of evil spirits.

The great colony of rats was caused by the landing at a nearby wharf of vessels from Australia. The rats had been coming ashore from vessels for years and formed a great habitation under the wharf used by the fishermen. A week ago the Chinese drove stakes all around the wharf and stopped up all the holes and cracks, believing that this plan would cause all of the rats to die of starvation. The rats gnawed a large hole through one of the planks today and rushed out in panic for something to eat.

Point San Pedro is on San Francisco bay, about six miles east of San Francisco. The rats are said to be very numerous and are causing much trouble to the fishermen.

STRAUS TALKS OF OUR JAPS

SECRETARY SAYS THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING IN REPORTS OF UNREST HERE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, returned from the Hawaiian Islands yesterday en route home to Washington, and is a guest at the Fairmont. Secretary Straus says he closely inquired into labor matters in the islands and about the Japanese and other nationalities there. He found no unrest among the Japanese. In his opinion the American element in the islands is very intelligent and liberal and is treating all the other races there in a spirit of friendliness and justice.

"Hawaii," the Secretary said, "shows what a wonderful crucible this American system of ours is. There are fifteen different nationalities represented by the population there and under our institutions they are living in harmony and full accord with each other. I think labor leaders on the mainland should take up the labor problem, as there is a good opportunity for white men to work in Hawaii, as white labor is needed there."

The Japanese on the islands are respecting our laws and any talk of them being there for an ulterior purpose is all moonshine."

Secretary Straus absolutely refused to discuss reports from Washington a day or two ago to the effect that negotiations between this country and Japan for a new treaty had come to a standstill because of Japan's refusal to countenance an exclusion provision affecting Japanese labor. The Secretary also insists that reports of large numbers of Japanese being smuggled into this country over the Mexican border are grossly exaggerated. He contends that Japan is sincere in its desire to keep Japanese laborers from coming to the mainland from any direction—

Hawaii, Canada or Mexico. Secretary and Mrs. Straus leave for Washington tomorrow.
